THE SPINSTER 1962

Colors upping, downing fly.

Day-child spins by.

College is a movement toward demanding majors, and ready-sheltering the rippling identity and around – a multi-colored blur of unremembered boys, too made goals. Hollins is the springhouse – a carousel silhouette taking shape in the timeless valley waters . . .

HOLLINS COLLEGE, VIRGINIA

BETTY EVANS, Business Manager

Blue swirls sky
Grass twirls green
Red, yellow everything Whirls in-between.

Colors upping, downing fly.
Day-child spins by.

Eyes accustomed to the light
Watch the day drab to night.
Sun drops in behind a cloud:
Claps the thunder dullness loud.
Drags, unspinning, by the day,
Swirling only stifling gray.

When day stops turning
And bushes stop burning,
When colors stop flying
In brilliance never dying,
Time is for a turning and a burning
And a flying and a dying of your own.

To tuck ideas in the head
Like growing children into bed,
To see part-circle cause
In the spiral-wire of laws,
To catch the sight of why
Makes a braining flint wheel fly.
Sparks cool soon to die,
But were there, but were there,
In the swirling, fire-charged air.

Or to find a half-design
Refracted in your mirror-mind:
Many-mirror-bent it came,
Still the same, still the same
Till intensified to flame
In your own.

To see how color flies
Through kaleidoscopic eyes,
You must start the spinning gyre
And consume each day in fire.

THAT IS HOLLINS

JOHN H. DIERCKS

ALVORD M. BEARDSLEE

RALPH G. STEINHARDT, JR.

Inspiration is but the match to light the dormant fire of our dreams. Dynamic youth, tempered with maturity — the young blood boils and bubbles in the caldrons of our minds. Alert, aware, afire to share the world; you change the pathways that we tread.

Cautious, curious feet ascend the carousel.

You choose a seat in a safe and solid seeming place to watch the shouting scurry of riders testing and choosing.

Spangling is the brightness without brilliance of it all:
blue, red, green horses; gay but straight stripes;
unblinking-winking lights;
and strident yellow silences of calliope throats.

Step right up and choose a painted horse to carry you away from the familiar into a dazzling world of yellow slips, and pink and blue. You can hear the motor purring, eager to be off and up and around and around again. Quickly now, or you will miss this ride!

Take a last look at those come to see you ascend. Soon the well-known faces blend into a passing panorama of color. Voices carry clearly to you from the ground, yet each revolution catches smaller snatches of the words. Fishburn is your haunt, the dorm your retreat.

There are others rising, falling with you; you can reach out and touch them if you like. A dozen others fall away as up you go and shoot above you as you sink.

They gallop around you on a different path; you can, at best, wave and shout to them — a handy “do you know . . .?”, a hurried “good luck” backstage, or a blind nod en route to an eight o'clock.

Student Government Association Officers: Peggy Shinnick, President; Carol Beaman, Vice-President; Stannye Musson, Secretary; Sister Cabaniss, Treasurer.

Third row: Boush Penzold, Ellie Auchincloss, Nancy Gould, Peggy Shinnick, King Trousdale, Betsy Poe, Ken Hopkins.

Senior Sallilynn Currin reviews the handbook with her groupers.

Strain for one last look at the passing crowd; it is a maze of color and motion with which your motion does not join. On campus a week and you are swept in as a working part of this perpetual gyration.

CHOIR

Slow start whirls away to swirling-twirling of sky, green, and everything.
Upping, downing,
round-and-rounding
to gold-jangled pipe tunes, you move a million
bright-light years,
still staying,
staying in the spinning over-riding
of gray's stifle.
All that's bright is brilliant.

Hold tight, now. The music is jangling and the momentum of the swirl catches you in its force. With only the reality of this wooden horse beneath you and a slender pole to grasp, your vision is a whirling circle of brown kneesocks and Bass weejuns.

Frantically you embrace a Monday to Friday academic existence that can be blanked out by the typical two days in Lexington. A 60 in chemistry dips you into what you heroically dub your slump. The carousel's pastels take on distorted hues, but the other riders are straining forward now as you must.

The passing lights and colors whirl at such tremendous speed that they all seem to be going in your direction. So you lean together and flow together and become part of a giant kaleidoscope, stirring, mixing, blending green on red and yellow on white or blue, with little time to think of what the final blend may be.

HOLLINS ABROAD

Spinning for a time in a far-flung world of cafes and outdoor book stores, you join the shuffling metro crowds and learn to eat apples with a knife and fork. The patisseries on Boul Mich, the huge cobblestones in the Sorbonne court, the children in Parc Monceau, and a thousand other tableaux spin, whirl, and blend into the gay, colorful impressionistic memory that is Paris.

TINKER DAY

To the top o' Tinker away from piney path, encompassing in a single sophomoreic pantomime. You sing reeling blackboards and library lights! Up, up, and around the laughing day treads the view the busy highway and the quiet cove — a gay and golden vision stolen from the your way down again to recall the waiting Humanities paper and to soak tired, healthy feet.

The whirling circle is the world.
The spin is you, who can't get off until the finish flames.
Hot eyes rivet from far-off outside-the-circle friends to the many-mirror-bendings of center glasses.
Look hard, look long.
The turning and the burning of the light will lead to flame.

In the swirl of black on white and flashing light you remain. You are not only a part of the whirl, it has become an inexplicable part of you. You dare to touch a foot to the turning circular floor and make your way between the other horses. Security catapults from a sought-after abstract to the dining room line or the lilacs in the old Cocke cemetery . . . the McVitty Room replaces the snack bar for library breaks. Amid the swirl of passing semesters comes a warm sensation of community with a past and present Hollins.

You have mounted into this blaze of mirrors and see yourself reflected there a million different ways. Hold very still and you may catch one image longer than the rest. The vast blur around you has become a kind of knowledgeable obscurity and you a free element within it. The music now sings through you and the tune has become inseparable from you. Your ride has passed its peak and before long will be through.

Open house in first floor Randolph.

Up and down and around slows down;
the moving staying-stills OF 1962

will stop when eyes are all kaleidoscoped and riders carouselled.

A spin-filled foot tries the ground and finds it full of world-reeling excitement.

You paid your money and back it comes in glistered gold.

Unwinding to discernible revolution, the swirl catches four years in a single turn. The final blue book tension is broken only by philosophical chats in smoky faculty offices or supper at the New Yorker. As soon as the safety-pin technique is finally mastered for your robe, you must pass the cap and gown to the Junior across the hall.

YE MERRIE MASQUERS

FOUNDER'S DAY

Founder's Day Speakers: Dr. Abraham Kaplan, Dr. Adolph Grunbaum, Dr. John A. Logan, Jr.

The velocity reaches an overwhelming climax. The mirrors flash slower, slower; and the colors crystalize and regain old shapes, somehow imbued with a new brilliance. How few have waited for you in the crowd.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Speaker: William C. DeVane, Dean of Yale College and President of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, and Ann Splitstone.

A new mass presses forward for a turn. The clanging world is milling by with little thought for what you have seen and done, but you are eager to walk into that crowd and absorb the colors while you reflect your new-found hues.

GRAPHEON

In the slower roundings you know the concentration of energies and potentials that made the sound and light scintillating and the rhythm progressive.

THE SPINSTER

The last spring is many walks, Sunday lunches, and seminar pages. Subconsciously you find yourself counting the pennies borrowed from the night watchman and going to breakfast early enough to see the faculty children cut across the quadrangle on their way to school. For a tremulous moment you wish that you did not have to leave and could remain forever in this perfect integration of light, color, and sound.

HUNDREDTH NIGHT PARTY

ADA

Jane Battle, Fontaine Belford, Sally Buffum, Sally Clark, Letsie Austin Dinkel, Leanna Haynie, Nini Knight, Virginia McCallum, Susie Marckwald, Anne Marshall, Winston Martin, Anne Moody, Joanne Richards, Julie Schieren, Judy Shafer, Guneli Tamkoc, Sudie Victor, Jennie Wayland, C. C. White, Claire Ruth White, Kaki Wolf.

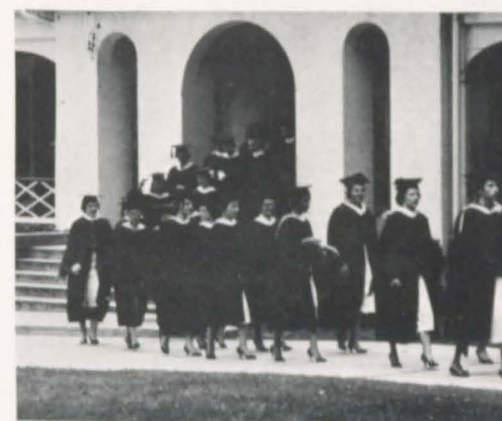

The round stops now and the crowd presses forward. The new world beckons; the faithful are eager to learn of all you have absorbed. So you touch the ground again and fight the irrepressible dizziness. In the bustling reality the calliope music mellows; the carousel whirls on behind you. . . .
